The 30th Annual Chemon Fishing Derby was recently held at the Elderly Center due to inclement weather. Folks from throughout the community gathered at the center to have a meal with the elders. After the meal, a drawing for prizes was held for the elders.

Even though the fishing activity was cancelled Penny Jashinsky and Floyd Williams were down at the park to try their luck. Neither caught fish, but the weather [no rain] held long enough for them to try. Floyd Williams and Mike Rudesill were the only two entrants for the Craziest Fishing Hat and Floyd finally won first place. Floyd's hat was adorned with all kinds of lures and pins and Chemon continued on page Six:

Floyd Williams' perseverance in the Craziest Fishing Hat contest finally paid off with a 1st place win.

Natural Resource Tech

Sara Smith is the new Natural Resource Technician; her job will be split between the Environmental Department and Public Works. Some of my duties include leading in efforts with solid waste management, recycling, and unsightly yard issues as well as assisting with weed/invasive species control, environmental surveys and sampling, and environmental site assessments.

Sara is a direct Oneida descendent and originally grew up Appleton with her grandmother and great grandmother. She says her family is a lot smaller than most Native families and mainly made up of women, but says she wouldn't trade them for the world. "I am the oldest of all my siblings and closest cousins which has been quite the experience watching them from when they were babies to where most have graduated from high school and one from college. Even though I grew up in the Fox Cities, I have always had a passion for the woods and working outside which I was able to pursue with higher education," Smith said.

Smith graduated from Appleton West High School in 2009 and began her undergraduate career at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay where she double majored in Biology (emphasis in Ecology and Conservation) and First Nation Studies with a minor in Environmental Science. After graduating in 2013 she continued Tech continued on page Six:

This past spring, the Family Center started a new garden project, it consisted of construction of a small green house, putting up Deer Fencing and acquiring a tiller and compost tumbler.

According to Stockbridge-Munsee Council Member, Joe Miller, deer were coming along and eating up everything they planted and all the fencing material was leftover from Forestry and Roads Department projects. He said the Family Center Budget provided the funds necessary to construct the green house, purchase seed, and compost/potting soil.

Miller said later in the spring they heard about a grant through the State Department of Health and Human services that the Stockbridge-Munsee Health and Wellness Center was applying for. "Much to our pleasure, it was Garden continued on page Six:

Invest In Your Child's Future

Did You Know

"Early experiences affect the development of brain architecture, which provides the foundation for all future learning, behavior, and health. Just as a weak foundation compromises the quality and strength of a house, adverse experiences early in life can impair brain architecture, with negative effects lasting into adulthood".

The Ages and Stages Questionnaire (ASQ) is here to help!

What it is: The Ages and Stages Questionnaire is a developmental screening and monitoring system for children from birth through age 5. The ASQ covers five developmental areas: communication, gross motor, fine motor, problem solving, and personal-social. It usually takes 10 to 15 minutes to complete.

What it isn't: The Ages and Stages Questionnaire is NOT a test to determine the intelligence of your child. It is Not a test to determine your child's weaknesses.

Who should complete the form: As a parent or caregiver, you are the best source of information about your child. That is why the questionnaire is designed to be completed by you.

Why complete the ASQ: The information you supply will help reveal your child's strengths, uncover any areas of concern, and determine if there are community resources or services that may be useful for your child or your family. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends using a standardized screening tool. Detection rate of developmental disabilities using a screening tool is 80 - 90% and only 20% without using a screening tool. Early detection/intervention is critical to the development and well-being of children and their families. Intervention prior to kindergarten has huge academic, social, and economic benefits. "Studies have shown that children who receive early treatment for developmental delays are more likely to graduate from high school, hold jobs, live independently, and avoid teen pregnancy, delinquency, and violent crime." Early detection/intervention helps ensure better futures. Completing the ASQ is an investment in your child's future.

Where: The Community Health Department at the Stockbridge Munsee Health and Wellness Center would be happy to provide you with the ASQ that is age appropriate for your child and score the completed questionnaire and provide you with feedback. Please contact Joan at 793-5018 or Anita at 793-3018.

SAVE THE DATE: October 8, 2016 at the Mohican Family Center; Child Find Day, ASQ developmental screening, prizes, face painting and so much more!

Celebrating Our Culture

We respect everyone's viewpoint on the meaning of their culture. Each of us is on our own journey. Culture is more than just your tribes land; it is more than the percentage of Native American you are. It is greater than a language, the way you look or dress. Culture is something ingrained in each of us from our families, friends, neighbors, and mentors. It is our way of life we choose to follow because our ancestors helped us to know the values of our heritage. It is the history that's in our blood that defines our culture. The experiences of our ancestors and our own. It is to be passed on from generation to generation. July is a reminder to all of us to sit down with an elder and listen. Listening and sharing is the only way we know how to pass on our cultures and traditions. Below is what I found searching the internet about our Culture. "There are 566 federally recognized American Indian and Alaska Native tribes and villages in the United States, each with their own culture, language and history. Every tribe has unique traditions and distinct styles of housing, dress, and food. Federally recognized tribes vary in population and land base, but all are considered sovereign nations and hold a specific nation-to-nation relationship with the United States." (Indianyouth.com)

According to Miller that funding helped purchase more gardening equipment to expand to the garden behind the Education Office. "This is a 60 by 40 foot existing garden where we constructed another deer fence around and purchased a new rear-tine tiller, hoes, rakes, seed, a compost tumbler, and rodent fencing," Miller explained.

Miller said they have been getting the young people involved in planting for the past year with the indoor operation [Hydroponics] at the Family Center, now they have them involved with planting, weeding, and watering outdoors throughout the summer. "This serves as incentives for earning their way for field trips and other recreational activities," Miller said.

According to Miller, future plans include a small Orchard and Berry patch behind the Education Office, more raised beds, garden boxes, and gardens throughout the community. "It is amazing how much you can grow in a small area, our Korean friends have been doing this for many years and provided us with expertise in this area," Miller said.

Hand, foot, and mouth disease

Also called: HFMD

Rash on hands, feet and mouth

What Is Hand, Foot, and Mouth Disease?

Hand, foot, and mouth disease is a highly contagious infection. This virus can spread from person-to-person through direct contact with unwashed hands or surfaces contaminated with feces. It can also be transmitted through contact with an infected person's saliva, stool, or respiratory secretions.

Hand, foot, and mouth disease is characterized by blisters or sores in the mouth and a rash on the hands and feet. The infection can affect people of all ages, but it usually occurs in children under age 5. It is generally a mild condition that goes away on its own within several days.

What Are the Symptoms of Hand, Foot, and Mouth Disease?

The symptoms begin to develop three to seven days after the initial infection. When symptoms do appear, you or your child may experience: (1) a fever, (2) poor appetite, (3) sore throat, (4) headache, (5) irritability, (6) painful, (7) red blisters in the mouth, (8) red rash on the hands and the soles of the feet

A fever and sore throat are usually the first symptoms of hand, foot, and mouth disease. The characteristic blisters and rashes show up later, usually one or two days after the fever begins.

You or your child should feel completely better within five to seven days after the initial onset of symptoms. Re-infection is uncommon. The body usually builds up immunity to the viruses that cause the disease.

How Is Hand, Foot, and Mouth Disease Treated?

In most cases, the infection will go away without treatment in seven to 10 days. However, your doctor may recommend certain treatments to help ease symptoms until the disease has run its course. These can include: prescription or over-the-counter topical ointments to soothe blisters and rashes. Pain medication, such as acetaminophen or ibuprofen, to relieve headaches, medicated syrups or lozenges to ease painful sore throats. Certain at-home treatments can also provide relief from hand, foot, and mouth disease symptoms.

You can try the following home remedies to help make blisters less bothersome:

- (1) Suck on ice or popsicles.
 - (2) Eat ice cream or sherbet.
 - (3) Drink cold beverages.
 - (4) Avoid citrus fruits, fruit drinks, and soda.
 - (5) Avoid spicy or salty foods.
- Swishing warm salt water around in the mouth may also help relieve the pain associated with mouth blisters and throat sores. Do this several times a day or as often as needed.*

How Can Hand, Foot, and Mouth Disease Be Prevented?

*Practicing good hygiene is the best defense against hand, foot, and mouth disease. *Regular hand-washing can greatly reduce your risk of contracting this virus. *Teach your children how to wash their hands using hot water and soap. *Hands should always be washed after using the restroom, before eating, and after being out in public. *Children should also be taught not to put their hands or other objects in or near their mouths. *It's also important to disinfect any common areas in your home on a regular basis. *Get in the habit of cleaning shared surfaces first with soap and water, then with a diluted solution of bleach and water. *You should also disinfect toys, pacifiers, and other objects that may be contaminated with the virus. If you or your child experience symptoms such as a fever or sore throat, stay home from school or work. You should continue avoiding contact with others, once the telltale blisters and rashes develop. This can help you avoid spreading the disease to others.

How long are you contagious?

Isolate contagious people. Because hand-foot-and-mouth disease is highly contagious, people with the illness should limit their exposure to others while they have active signs and symptoms. Keep children with hand-foot-and-mouth disease out of child care or school until fever is gone and mouth sores have healed. If you have the illness, stay home from work.

Walking with Misty Cook

On the walk we had with Misty Cook at the Pow-Wow grounds it was a little wet out but she was still able to take us for a tour of the wonderful plants that we have around us.

There are so many plants that we have seen all of our lives and didn't know they could be eaten, used as teas, or even medicine. She talked about how to pick and cook dandelion greens and how they can be used to eat. It was so wonderful how she was able to take us around the grounds and point out so many plants and tell us what they can be used as.

These are some of the plants that she showed us and we have at the Many Trails Park.

• Camomile can be used as a tea to relax, if you have tension headache it helps them go away.

- Catnip is the next step up from camomile for relaxation
- Clovers keeping spiders away
- Yarrow Boil it down and drink a teaspoon a day it's good for arthritis. As soon as they're ripe with the white flower but can't use the root. It grows abundantly in fields.
- Raspberry leaves before the berries come, dark on top and light on the bottom. Take a couple hands full and put them in a big pot of tea and it can be refrigerated and drink 1-3 cups a day for diabetes
- Burdock root can be picked anytime you can eat the root
- Nettles
- Indian snuff you take the tops and mash them and sniff them

UV Safety Awareness Month

Summer has arrived and while the sun is shining bright it's a golden time to highlight July as UV Safety Awareness Month!

We all love to take in those warm summer rays, but everyone must remember to protect their skin and eyes from the damaging effects of the sun.

The sun emits radiation known as UV-A and UV-B rays. Both types can damage your eyes and skin:

- UV-B rays have short wavelengths that reach the outer layer of your skin
- UV-A rays have longer wavelengths that can penetrate the middle layer of your skin

By learning the risks associated with too much sun exposure and taking the right precautions to protect you and your family from UV rays, everyone can enjoy the sun and outdoors safely. Here are the harmful things unprotected sun exposure can do:

- Cause vision problems and damage to your eyes
- Suppression of the immune system
- Premature aging of the skin
- Skin cancer

Fortunately, there are things you can do to minimize the risk that comes with sun exposure.

1. Cover Up: Wearing a Hat (preferably wide brimmed) or other shade-protective clothing can partly shield your skin from the harmful effects of UV ray exposure. Proper clothing may include long-sleeved shirts, pants, hats, and Sunglasses-for eye protection.

2. Stay in the Shade: The sun's glare is most intense at midday. Staying in the shade between the hours of 10am and 4pm will further protect your skin. The sun still can damage your skin on cloudy days or in the winter.

3. Choose the Right Sunscreen: This is extremely important. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration's new regulations for sunscreen labeling recommend that your sunscreen have a sun protection factor of at least 15, and should protect against both Ultraviolet A and Ultraviolet B rays.

4. Use the Right Amount of Sunscreen: According to the National Council on Skin Cancer Prevention, most people apply only 25-50 percent of the recommended amount of sunscreen. When out in the sun, it's important that you apply at least one ounce (a palmful) of sunscreen every two hours. You should apply it more often if you are sweating or swimming, even if the sunscreen is waterproof. By taking the proper precautions and following this advice you and your loved ones can enjoy the sun. If you are having any problems after being in the sun, be sure to talk to your healthcare provider.

Enjoy the outdoors this summer and remember to protect your eyes and the skin you're in!

for your sinuses.

- Blackberries you dig out the root and it's good for diarrhea
- Sumac /sumac the green berry turn red and not to be picked until the first frost good for asthma pneumonia or any chest ailment

- Fern could be eaten by boiling and just sauté them or put into soups
- Milkweed plants can be boiled and the milk that's inside of the milkweed plant can be used for warts

Education

Becky Liethen's Arts and Crafts summer school at Bowler School District. Students are recently finishing their hot air balloons, which were made from an actual balloon, coated with papier mache and then decorated with colorful tissue paper.

Aidan Jaimes-Benitez, who recently completed fifth grade at Bowler Elementary, showcases his papier mache soon-to-be hot air balloon in Becky Liethen's arts and crafts class as his classmates also finish the initial stages of the project.

2016 Woodland Indian Art Show

By Kathryn Church Footit
It was the 10th annual 2016 Woodland Indian Art Show & Market this past Independence Day weekend at the Radisson Conference Center at Oneida, Wisconsin. This event celebrates our connection with our native woodland tribal ancestry with art, entertainment, education, and the opportunity to market the artist's creations. A
There were several familiar and brand new faces, most from area tribes, showing their skilled art in both traditional and contemporary styles. Representing our Stockbridge-Munsee tribe this year were Terri L. O'Connor, who returned for her second year with her colorful and detailed multi-medium artistry. My mother, Donna Jean Church returned for her fourth year with her adorable native faceless art doll ornaments and soft dolls. It was my first year participate, showing my home-sewn ribbon shirts and skirts. Techniques, stories and laughter were shared, and it proved to be an show I would highly recommend to any woodland artist. This year, the entries in the competition were hidden from us until an unveiling at the Friday evening artist's reception. Breathtaking entries; this year's special category theme was "Mother Earth", where the artwork needed to be completely of natural materials. I'd like to give a special thanks, not only to the guests, supporters and sponsors, but to the WIASM Board and the wonderful volunteers who work all year round to put on this event. This is a continually growing show, and I know that planning is already started for next year's event, which is scheduled for June 30-July 2, 2017.
